

Enrico Simone Faccarello,
the New Flat Racing Bloodstock Agent at Auctav

As Auctav strengthens its flat racing offering with a sale at the end of January and a yearling sale in September, the agency has enlisted the services of Enrico Simone Faccarello, whose professional pedigree is international.

A Milan Native with Global Racing Experience

Enrico Simone Faccarello was born in Italy near Milan. "I left school before I turned 18 to work for a racehorse breeder, Aldo Chiocchetti. I've always loved horses, even though my family has no connection to this world."

After a year with Aldo, the breeder gave Enrico one piece of advice: to broaden his horizons with international experience to expand his knowledge of horses. And it's fair to say that the young Italian more than followed this wise thought. "I went to work for two years with Patrick Chedeville at Haras du Petit Tellier before he and Antoinette Tamagni supported me in going to New Zealand to Hanui Farm. The next step on my journey was the United States and Kentucky at Lanes End, undoubtedly the best experience of my life. The environment was incredible: it was truly the elite of racehorses. People gave everyone a chance. The methods were simple and effective."

It was at the Keeneland races that Enrico Simone Faccarello met David Egan, leading him to Ireland for a year, where he joined this family-run stud with extensive expertise in pinhooking. "To round out my training, I went to Australia to Arrowfield for yearling preparation."

Auctav, the New Chapter in His Racing Journey

This equestrian world tour has now brought him back to Europe, and more specifically to France. "I attended all the sales as a freelancer before settling down to work at Écurie des Monceaux for yearling preparation and sales, followed by seven seasons at Haras de Bouquetot with the stallions."

Now, the new chapter in Enrico Simone Faccarello's career unfolds at Auctav, where he becomes the bloodstock agent specializing in flat horses: "The hands-on experience has taught me a lot. I've always enjoyed working closely with horses, and the sales have allowed me to build a vast network. Joining Auctav comes at the right time in my career. I've always taken my time to fully absorb each learning opportunity. My role at Auctav will be to become the expert on flat racing horses. Many horses don't make it to the sales in this discipline. Auctav needs to become an opportunity for them."

Arnaud Angéliaume, Auctav General Manager:

"We are very pleased to welcome Enrico Simone Faccarello to the Auctav team. He is a valuable expert who understands flat racing horses from conception to birth, from preparation to racing, from breeding to standing at stud. This expertise is combined with genuine social talent, which aligns perfectly with Auctav's entrepreneurial spirit."
